

S3 Section: Calculation of fish larvae and fish eggs, phyto-microplankton

The water volume filtered by the sampling device was derived as described under S2 Section. The abundance per taxon and station (in individuals per m³ for fish eggs, in individuals per 1000 m³ for fish larvae, in cells per liter for phyto-microplankton) was calculated by dividing the number of individuals per station by the volume filtered.